for

SOUTH PACIFIC EMERGENCY RESPONSE REGISTER

As part of the ADRA global network response, ADRA Australia provides emergency assistance to victims of natural and man-caused disasters including refugees and internally displaced persons. Such assistance includes food distribution, shelter, clothing, healthcare, and water, sanitation and hygiene support. ADRA also works to transition its relief operations into long-term, sustainable development activities such as school and housing reconstruction.

In most cases ADRA Australia utilises local staff to support and implement emergency relief efforts, however in some cases, ADRA Australia may require additional assistance to deliver adequate response.

ADRA Australia is consequently seeking expressions of interest from people qualified or skilled in a number of professions and trades to join ADRA's Emergency Response Register and support a rapid response in case of a major disaster. Examples of skills and qualification that could be of immense value in the wake of a major disaster include practical expertise in public health, project management, logistics, human resource, security, emergency and transitional shelter, WASH and security.

The register will be utilised by ADRA Australia to respond quickly and effectively to a major humanitarian crisis in the South Pacific Region. Suitably qualified persons from Australia, New Zealand, and the South Pacific who are prepared to commit to and uphold the values of our organisation are invited to register their interest by downloading the Application Form from www.adra.org.au/projects/emergency_management.htm.

By joining the register you agree to be contacted by ADRA, if the need arises, and to be deployed to the disaster area. Deployment contracts in the field may vary from one week to a few months, depending on the severity of the disaster and ADRA's response arrangements.

This is your opportunity to be part of an organisation that makes a lasting difference to the lives of people affected by disasters. If you are interested in this exciting new opportunity, please register your interest by completing the Application Form, and sending it to:
